GREETINGS FROM THE BOSSES.....

Welcome to the first ever Socks On Zine! Five years ago we decided to put together a Bandcamp 'record label' for Das Kapitans and a bunch of friends to have a joined up 'shop window' online....that kinda grew big hairy legs and we've ended up being part of an incredible DIY music scene, having 20+ bands on our Socks On Label and a whole gaggle of new friends.

As we start to creep beyond our mid 40s having that community is not just great for the music but also for our brain health.

We are always looking at new ways to evolve this little project and for a long time we wanted to find the energy, time and patience to put together a zine...turns out we just had to speak with Ren from our cover stars Get The Fuck Outta Dodge and all our wishes could come true.

That'll do for now. We can chat more next time. Remember, one rule....don't be a dick. Love Simon and Steve xx

EST 2017

Where did this Italian connection come from? Peterborough and Como seems like an unexpected relationship!?

Back in the very early days of Socks On we (Das Kapitans) were sending out our songs and albums across the globe to find anyone who would listen, thats when we stumbled upon The Joshua Blues Club internet radio show in Como hosted by the wonderful Danielle. This is where the mutual love started. One mad hairy Italian man with two strange hairy English

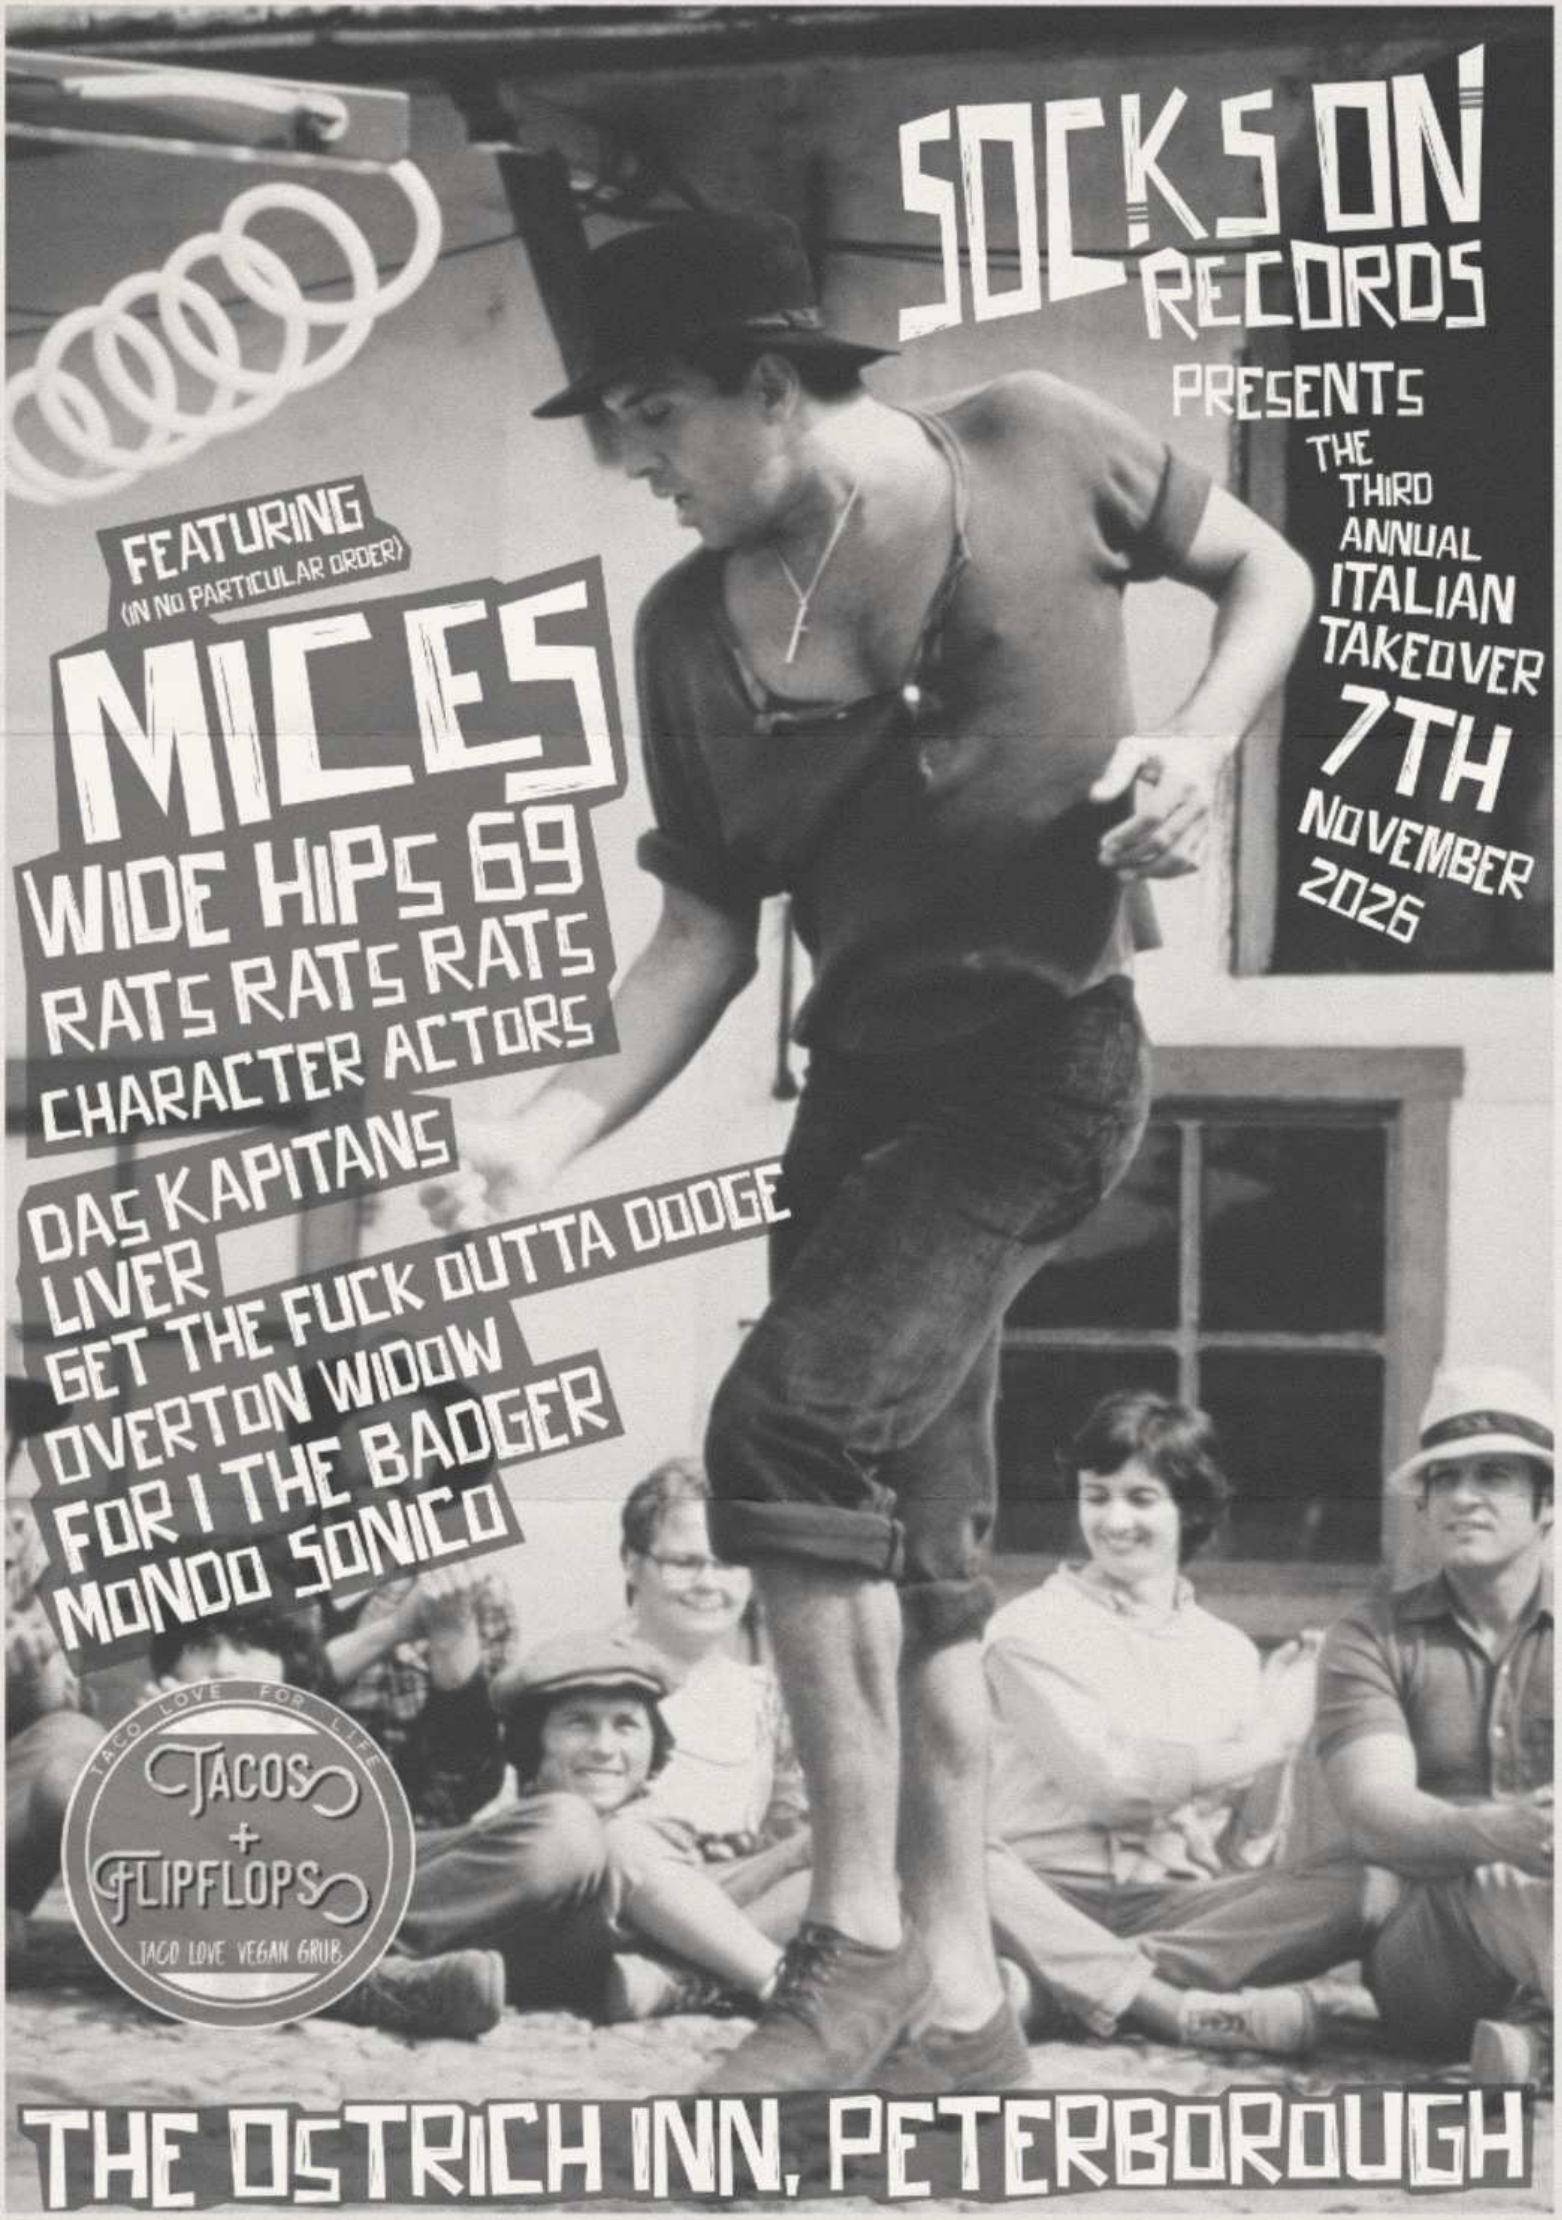

How has this relationship grown over the years??

Weekly appearances on the Joshua Blues Club show turned into Danielle coming onto our own Podcast, from there we came up with the impossible idea of a yearly gig swap. Socks On Bands go to Como once a year, Italian bands comes to Peterborough once a year. We are heading into our fourth year of this beautiful arrangement and its been a massive success. The Italian bands bring a tonne of followers and pack out the Ostrich Inn, crowdsurfing and hanging from the rafters.

Whats' next?

November 7th the Italians are coming to The Ostrich Pboro. Flip over for the poster. CIAO!

GET THE FUCK OUTTA DODGE

WE HAD A SIT DOWN ON THE FLOOR OUTSIDE RENS FAVOURITE SHOP HERON FOODS FOR A CHAT. DESPITE ASKING THEM TO REPEAT THEIR WORDS A NUMBER OF TIMES WE THINK WE FINALLY GOT AN ACCURATE TRANSCRIPT. HAVE A READ.....

who and what are GTFOD?

Get the Fuck Outta Dodge are me, James (Dirty Bass and wandering minstrel) and Ren (Drums and shouting via the gift of a plethora of homemade Mic's/gimp masks). We've been pals for over 30 years, where we met via the gift of nepotistic jobs. Dodge started in 2019 as a vanity project for Ren to learn drums before he turned 40 and lost all his hair. He managed to play something akin to drumming and we recorded our first album, "Climbing Higher, Hitting Harder Than King Kong". It's just carried on from there really. We had a good few years of releasing loads of stuff and haven't released owt in ages.

link

Coming to see Dodge should be a fun time, even if you don't like our music you can pick up some ace merch instead. We're not in this for the plaudits or acclaim. It's just about having a laugh whilst doing something vaguely creative. Having been in bands where I had to do all the organising, I'm happy for Ren's ADHD ravaged brain to deal with every aspect of band life, cuz he's a clever twat, and I just can't be arsed to do anything but play bass (sometimes in time with Ren) and have a wander.

how's the music scene up in Sheffield?

It's great, or so I'm told haha. There's loads of great bands, venues & labels that put on on all sorts of cool gigs (The Alder, Hatch & Cheap Dates to name a few), but we're old and lazy so don't get out much, but when we do there's always a decent bunch of bands on. I've gotta give a shout out to Jon who runs Do It Thissen Records, who has released a few lathe cut beauties for Dodge (all sold out I'm afraid) and has released countless Sheffield bands as well as being a bit of a scene historian.

What does Socks On Records mean to you?

Being accepted into the Socks On fold has been amazing. As a nearly 50 year old man I didn't think Id be making new friends at my age. Its a great group of people who are all happy to chip in and build a "scene". I love playing Socks On gigs because you know there will be other quality bands on and that the crowd will be up for it. Walking into The Ostrich honestly feels like a warm hug and its like a local...just that I live 70 miles up the road. Steve and Simon dedicate so much time to nurturing the Socks On experience and that love and attention shines through.

Got any band recommendations?

Django Jones and The Mystery Men. Hard as Nails. SHREDS. Baosbheinn. Mouthparts. Dearthworms. Ugly Jumper. The Crashmats.

Will GTFOD be around forever?

As long as Rens ankles hold up and people keep asking us to play then we will try and make an effort.

Got anything else worth saying

Erm....nope

THE HELLHOUNDS OF PETERBOROUGH

Forget Sherlock Holmes. England's first written hellhound turned up here in 1127. The Peterborough Chronicle reports a "wild hunt" of huge black hounds charging through the woods between Peterborough and Stamford.

A rapacious abbot called Henry of Poitou had just been appointed to Peterborough Abbey. Of the incident, local monks basically wrote down

"new boss arrives, Satan's dogs turn up"

Bit uncouth if you ask us

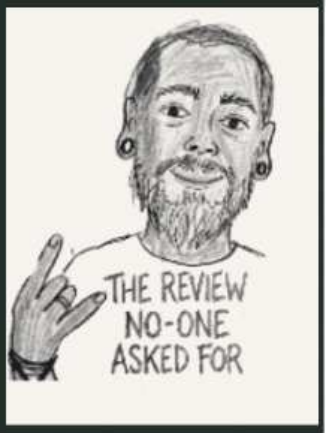

BLACK SHUCK

He's a ghostly black dog with flaming red or green eyes (or just the one), said to prowl the coast, crossroads and graveyards of East Anglia.

In 1577 a fire-eyed beast supposedly burst through a church congregation in Bungay and caused total panic. Seeing him is said to mark you for doom.

For a debut , Oh Shush have pulled out all the stops and really showcasing what they are all about. With an obvious mixture of influencesand a natural chemistry, Oh Shush are Here, and Here To Stay!!

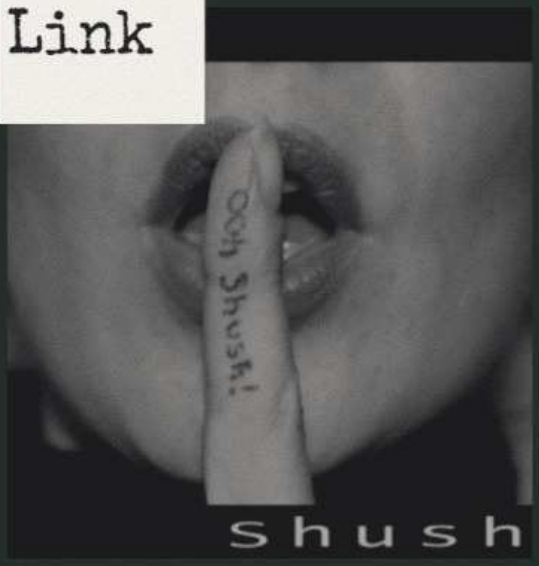

OHH SHUSH

The Catch
Absolute beast of a Beat track... fast, upbeat and Catches you from the 1st second.

My Dreams are too loud. That Riff!!! Pulls you in.... then you gets some BaBa Ba Ba sing-a-longs...Live this is gonna have the crowd HOOKED!!! Some of these lyricsr emind me of The Mighty Boosh... and thats A GOOOOOD THING!!!

All My Love Can't Fill This Hole.
This one is THE EAR WORM of EAR WORM Riffs!!!! The bass chasing the guitar times, added synth, a head bopping paced drum beat.... THIS IS OOH SHUSH!!!! The elongated vocals in the Chorus, grab deep inside you and grip hard like a well needed emotional hug.

Link

Breathe.
A change of tones, in strings and vocals. Proving this album will not be thrown out with the bathwater as its captivating in every new track. Synth and 80s backing vocals hit differently on this track then the rest. A more electronic feel to Breathe than showcased on the previous 3tracks. Again lyrically, this is narrative driven, like Sam in telling us a story from his own experiences, one that wouldn't be out of place in an independant film , or a Danny Boyle cult classic.

Hollow

Starting with a really techno inspired hook, thisone picks you off the floor / out your seat !!!Proper dance vibes to this track!! The tech beatstaking pride of place here only to becomplemented by the flawless Bass ringingthrough from the depths of 80s New romanticinspiration.

A Love Song

The 2nd shorted track on the Album, coming in at just under 3 mins... but what a 2mins 42 you are in for. are in for. More beautiful backing vocals, running Riffs, solid drum beats, this is a stand out track forme!! Something about it, the almost spoken word vocals on this one reminiscent if someone reading a love letter to their one true love over acasio pre-programmed beat (thats not downplaying the musicians, thats just how it would beif simplified)

Only The Lonely

The closing track.... and another change of pace,a slower BPM allows this to be an Oh ShushBallad.Husband and Wife vocals on the Chorus againringing through and grabbing a hold of you rightin the Feels.The tempo change just before the ending isperfect to make you wanna go back and listen toall 7 tracks over again.

CROSSWORD

What's in yr ears? - Beckers Rough Pup

Alexisonfire - This could be anywhere on Earth

One word; Dallas Green, that's two, but with a voice like that, who cares right?!More vocalists than you can shake a stick at, but it works. Heavy, super melodic, radio friendly, but cool enough to appease the scene kids.I remember this coming out when I was at Uni and it being a firm favourite at 'alt night' at the SU. How is this 20 years old? I feel old.

Holding Patterns : This Shot Will Ring

The BEST 3pc band you will ever hear.All 3 sing, all 3 are masters of their instruments, and their tracks are simply superb, Alt/Indie Rock at its finest.Currently on hiatus whilst they do their other band Crash of Rhinos, who are also worth a listen, VERY good.

Restorations : Civil Inattention

Love the way this builds from the stripped back intro into the first chorus. And later the time change for the outro sections.Again, so melodic, and that haunting Hammond rings out beautifullyThis band opened my eyes to the Audiotree Live Sessions, and their first session is an absolute peach.

Ways Away : Halfway Open

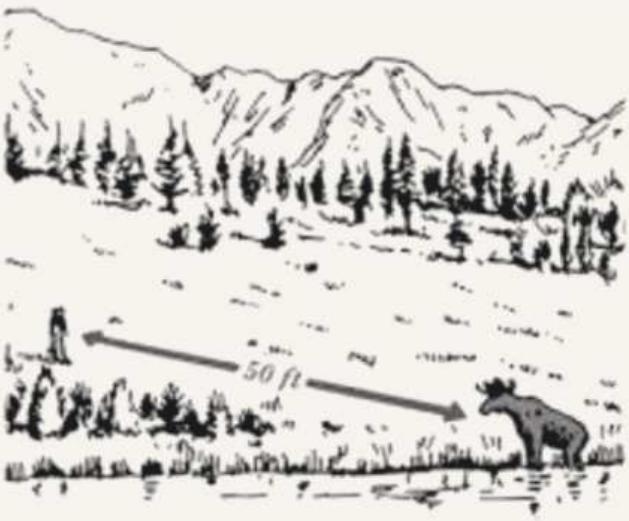

Big Samiam fan here, (more from them later) but Ways Away take it to the next level.Melodic punk at its finest. Sergie Loobkoff is punk rock royalty....fact

Samiam : Natural Disasters

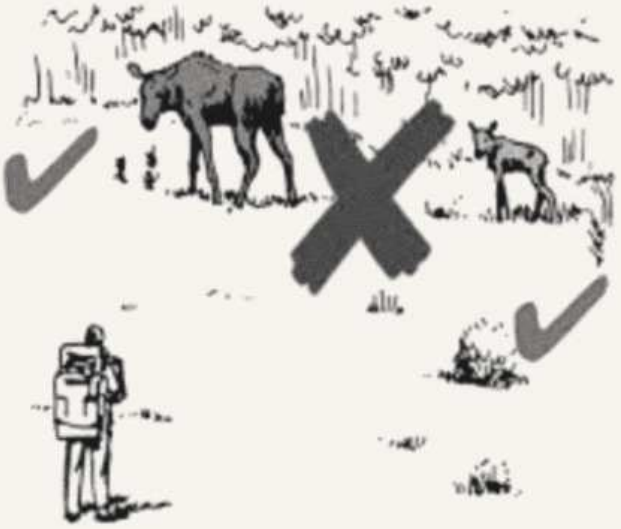

Stowaway is a great album, but this track really stood out to me from the first listen and remains a firm favourite. Harmony guitar solo in a punk rock track anyway?

HOW TO DEAL WITH A MOOSE ENCOUNTER

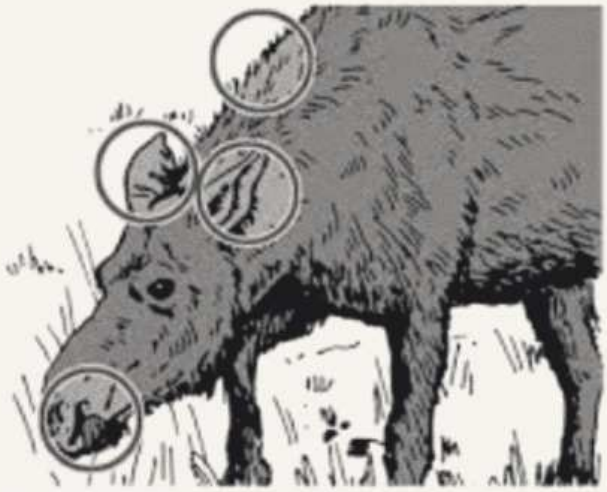

MANLINESS

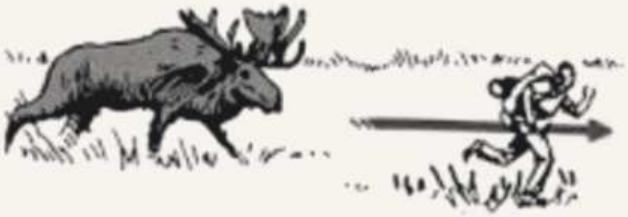

1: IF you see a moose, give it plenty of space–at least 50 feet. If needed, create more space by backing away calmly.

2: WATCH for nearby calves. Never come between a cow and her calf.

3: LOOK for signs of aggression: raised hair on its neck/back, pinned back ears, and/or constant licking of their lips.

4: RUN away as fast as possible if the moose charges you. It will generally back down once its driven you far enough away.

5: SEEK additional protection by ducking behind a large tree, rock, or building.

6: IF attacked and knocked over, curl into a ball to protect your head and vital organs. Continue retreating, as is possible.

Whats in yr ears? - Dal - WPT

Pie And Mash : The Skinner Brothers

Absolute Banger of a track. Skinner Brothers are new to me this year, and listening through their back catalogue im shocked I hadn't heard of them before. This track is a S.B classic melting pot of Guitars , Drums, Rude Boi vocal tones and a driving DnB driving force.

Shit Love : Fatdog

Fatdog are listed as New Rave, Dance-Punk Rivival..and this track is proof of that. Taken off their 2nd album , Cancel Me (Im tired), Shit Love is a repetitive synth led DnB style backing, heavy echo vocals, and multi vocal chorus....thats sure to get stuck in your head!! This is a track you could Run to, if you were that way inclined.

Feel Me? : Big Truck

The opening track to Big Trucks Debut album ; Midday at the middleway, Feel Me? Is an indie punk offering from Laurie Vincent of Softplay fame. The album offers a multitude of styles Far from the hard hitting tracks we have come to expect from his more famous project. But Feel Me? Is a a nod to the days of old, but with more rhythm and a softer vocal. An ideal opener for a debut album and a wicked track that is on my repeats.

Totalimmortal : AFI

AFI are a band I listen to on a massive regular anyways, but with All Hallows Eve hitting 27 years of age this year and it being Halloween season , I revisited it and remembered how much I LOVE this track. If youre not a fan of AFI, its okay, youre entitled to your wrong opinion, but the guitar riffs, Havocs major use of OH! and melodic vocals will leave this track scorched into any emo kids blackened heart.

Clown on a Bender: HumusVacuum

Now this is a new band to me, introduced to me by my son, and what a recommendation. HumusVacuum are a relatively new band that have a real 2006 vibe to them!! A classic Skate Punk / Emo Punk / Pop Punk style, nasally vocal and a Snare that sounds like a blown up plastic bag being POPPED, it has it all. A band that doesnt take themselves too seriously but has talent in abundance.... the guys you hate, but music to love.

WALTER CORNELIUS

Peterborough's most unlikely legend

The escape

Born in Latvia in 1923, Walter supposedly escaped the Iron Curtain by rowing 400 miles across the Baltic with a bullet wound in his stomach. Some versions have him swimming it instead. Nobody's checking.

The day job

He settled in Peterborough and worked as a lifeguard at the Lido for the rest of his life. He taught thousands of kids to swim, lived in an old Ford Transit parked by the pool, and made his own flip-flops out of tyres.

The party tricks

He snapped eight-inch nails with his bare hands, bent pennies in his teeth, and put a paving slab on his head for a mate to smash with a sledgehammer. Anglia TV filmed it in 1960, and the slab took two goes to break.

The proper fame

He was Maxalding muscle control world champion in 1964, with the trophy presented by Elizabeth Taylor. He was on Blue Peter and won Opportunity Knocks.

The stunts

He walked on his hands for 153 miles, pushed a pea along with his nose until it was skinned raw, and ate raw sausages whole for a world record, which got his stomach pumped. He tried to pick up a motorbike with his teeth and the rope snapped. At Christmas 1973 he paddled a bathtub down the Nene.

The flight

He knew he'd never really fly over the Nene, but the publicity would raise money for charity. His homemade wings weighed a ton, so he went straight down, hit some driftwood, and got photographed mid-air. That's the picture everyone remembers.

The end

He died in 1983 with barely a mention in the paper, and lay in an unmarked grave for about ten years. Now there's a golden silhouette of him flying on the Lido's weather vane. Absolute legend

Rats! Rats! Rats! are a punk grunge two piece from Gosport, UK.

Link

Formed in 2022, Andy Hawxwell (guitar/vocals) and Rich Oakes (drums/backing vocals) play fast, loud and tight. They have released 2 full albums on Horn and Hoof Records/Rare Vitamin Records ("Bloody Hello" in 2025 and "Heavy Petting at the Lido" in 2026)

They have completed 4 headline tours of England as well as support slots with punk legends Snuff, Ed Tudor Pole, Peter & the Test Tube Babies and ex-Sex Pistol Glen Matlock.

Good Job Kid

Peterborough power synth-fuelled Midwest emo duo established 2023.

Open-tuned guitars, frantic drums, huge choruses, and a subject matter which will make all your friends slightly concerned for your wellbeing.

Taking their noise around the UK and a little further afield, from Copenhagen to Como.

ROUGH PUP

Link

Peterborough based Alt.Rock 3pc Rough Pup formed in 2025, releasing their debut EP in April 2026 in conjunction with Socks On Records.

2027 is already shaping up to be a busy and productive year with EP no2 being recorded in January, set for a spring release, and a number of gigs and festival slots already confirmed.

For fans of Hot Water Music, Ways Away and Polar Bear Club

20th August 2026, New Century Hall, Manchester

I was there at the "official" last-ever NOFX UK show at Hatfield back in 2023 (before the final final shows were announced) and, as a fan of thirty years, I'm not going to lie: there were a few tears shed that day. So I jumped at the chance for one more dose of NOFX action when Scene Festival announced the UK premiere of their career spanning documentary, 40 Years of Fuckin' Up, with none other than head honcho Fat Mike in attendance for a live Q&A.

A short jaunt over the Snake Pass into Manc and the game was afoot. On entering the venue, there was a sea of mohawks, dyed hair, studded leather jackets and a strong whiff of the unwashed and cider... Fat Mike was ensconced in a corner signing posters, looking very fetching in a black cami dress and cat ears. I duly joined the back of the longest line to await an audience with one of my heroes. Along the way, punters were treated to a delightful display of Fatty's personal dildo collection (strictly look-don't-touch!). I'm still trying to process the tow-bar hitch!!! After what felt like days, I finally neared the front, managed thirty seconds of incoherent babbling to an understandably baffled-looking Mike, got my poster signed, and hot footed it to the front row for the film.

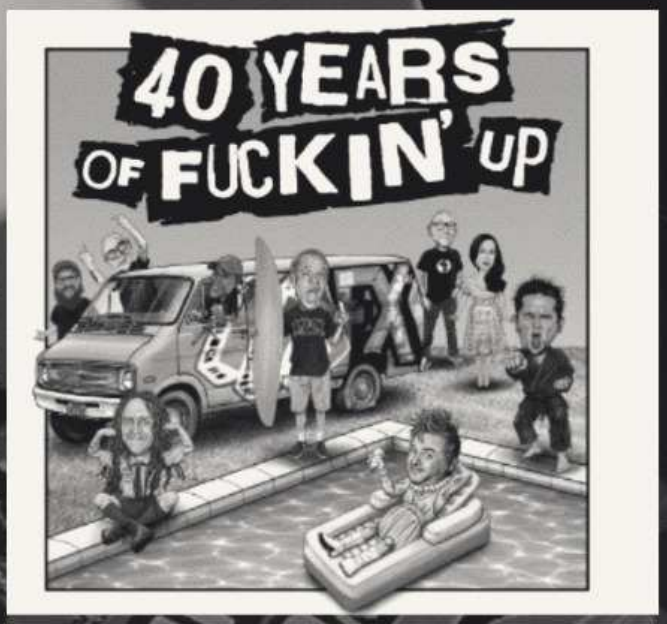

The lights dimmed and the main feature began. For the uninitiated, NOFX (Fat Mike on bass/vocals, El Hefe on guitar/trumpet, Eric Melvin on guitar, and Erik "Smelly" Sandin on drums) are the elder statesmen of US punk rock: fiercely DIY (refusing to sign to a major the year punk broke) and relentlessly outspoken (they'll happily talk shit about anyone and everyone). Nobody is pretending 40 Years of Fuckin' Up is a sanitised rock doc. Much like their autobiography, The Hepatitis Bathtub, it's a warts and all autopsy of how they fought their way to the top of the independent scene, despite openly admitting they only ever gave it about 60%.

Fat Mike got sick of touring and decided to call it a day after mounting one final swansong run to secure a payday for the rest of the band, who all look visibly gutted that the ride is over.Naturally, there's plenty of Mike's ego on display (you wouldn't expect anything less), and while cramming forty years into two hours inevitably means some chapters fly by, the film delivers brilliant early archive footage, great vox pops from punk luminaries, and one extraordinarily graphic sequence (complete with shaky phone video) of Mike convinced death was around the corner as he shit blood all over Avenged Sevenfold frontman M. Shadows' house. (The carpet was a write-off, though to Mike's credit, he paid for the deep clean.)

The film culminates with their final three hometown shows, all triumphant back-slapping, chaotic stage antics, and genuine fan catharsis, though the whole thing is a bit soured by the revelation towards the start of the film, that Mike is being sued by guitarist Eric Melvin over alleged financial chicanery (though Mike and the rest of the band refute any mis-deeds). As you'd expect, there are zero holds barred, but it leaves behind an unexpected, lingering sadness watching a 40 year friendship fracture at the finish line.

Whether you're a die hard fan or a complete newcomer, it ticks every box: a raw, unflinching look at the realities of surviving four decades in punk rock and the wreckage left in its wake. If you're planning on catching this on streaming, think again. It's only going to be shown in theatres/cinemas etc. During the Q +A Mike explained, like his beloved Rocky Horror Picture Show, he wants people to experience it with each other communally.

Our Souls is a name that works depending on the accent (say like it 'are' not 'hour').

Started in 2018, Our Souls are one full length, one split (with Sprainer) and four EPs deep (all via Socks On). The first record pressed on vinyl will be out in early 2027 on Idolent and Cats Claw Records. This is another split, this time with Be Fair.

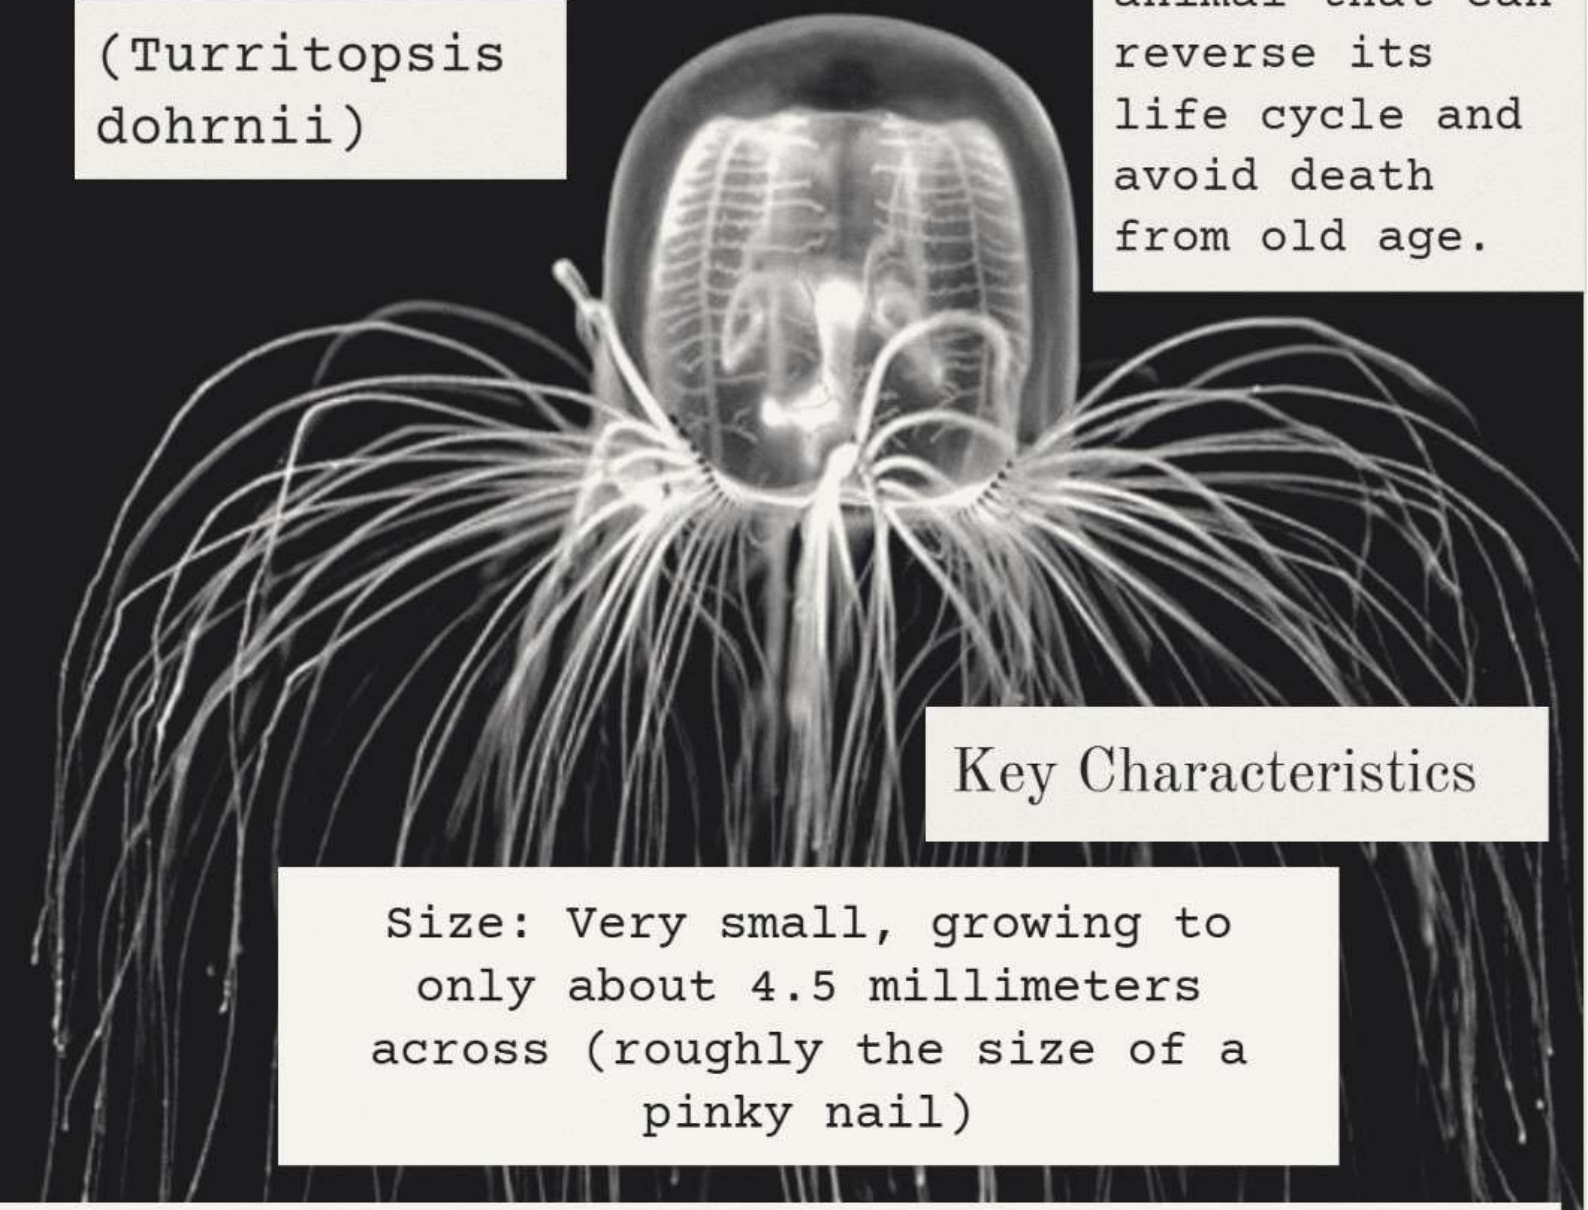

We're halfway through making a second full length cos everyone writes songs.

OUR SOULS

The immortal jellyfish

(Turritopsis dohrnii)

is a tiny, biologically immortal marine animal that can reverse its life cycle and avoid death from old age.

Key Characteristics

Size: Very small, growing to only about 4.5 millimeters across (roughly the size of a pinky nail)

Appearance: It has a clear, bell-shaped body with a bright red stomach in the middle and up to 90 white tentacles around the edge

Anatomy: It lacks a brain, heart, bones, blood, and complex organs.

Habitat: Found worldwide in temperate and tropical ocean waters.

Nelly facts

How Its Immortality Works

Life Cycle Reversion: When the adult jellyfish (called a medusa) faces physical damage, starvation, or environmental stress, it does not naturally die of old age

Transdifferentiation: The adult cells transform into undifferentiated stem cells, allowing the jellyfish to shrink, drop to the seafloor & turn back into a juvenile polyp

Cloning: From this polyp, new genetically identical medusae bud off and grow into adults.

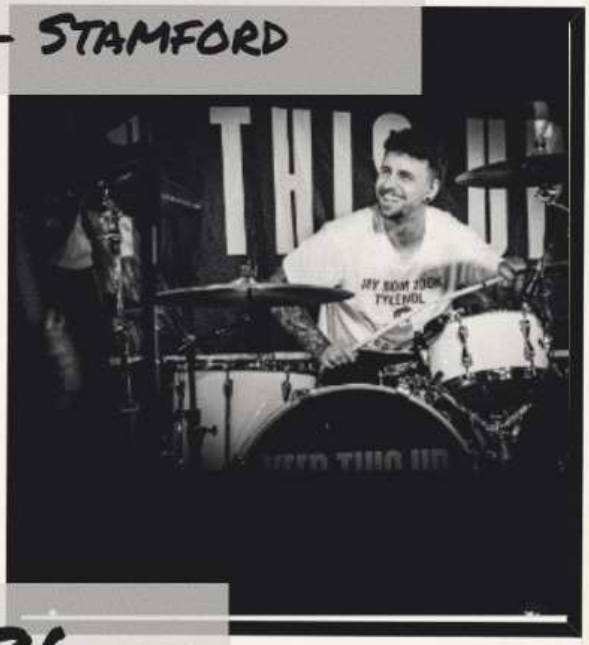

Not Invincible: While it can reset its biological clock indefinitely, it can still die if it is eaten by a predator or catches a disease.

Rats Rule the Roost

Chicken feed for chickens...

happy in the shed

BUT the grain is running short!...

'Coz the rats rule the roost!

Farmer ain't no fool, an his fowls are falling

RUN DOWN

Mr. Roosters lost his grip

'Coz the rats they rule the roost!!

Foxy sneeks around the back, an vermin aint his taste

But he'll eat the lot...

Anyhow...

'less the farmer he makes chase!

Chicken feed for chickens

All dying
